

FUN GALORE AT TRIAL YESTERDAY

MESSRS. HILL AND JACKSON PAY DEARLY FOR SPORT.

MEMBERS OF JACKSON CLUB

Hill Resent Insults, and Jackson Says He Is Not Like a Dog at All.

After a protracted and minute questioning Friday afternoon Messrs. Hill and Jackson, sued for $20,000 damages for injuries done to M. J. O'Bryane by their efforts to escape from the Elks' police during carnival week, they were both dismissed on the ground that the evidence was not sufficient to hold them to trial. As the two accused gentlemen were about to leave the office of Circuit Court Commissioner Ed. Carpenter, in which the trial was held, they were detained while the announcement was made that they were now members in good and regular standing of the "Jackson Club." The whole matter was a hoax in which no one was deceived save the two victims against which the fake summons had been served by Officer Hogan.

Defendants Anxious. Promptly at three o'clock the examination was begun. The office was filled to overflowing with men who were "next" and were anxious to see how the two gentlemen would deport themselves under the questioning. H. H. Jackson and R. H. Hill, the two defendants, were decidedly on the anxious bench nervously awaiting the ordeal.

Ed. Carpenter Judge. T. S. Nolan and E. H. Ryan of this city and J. C. Rood of Beloit, were the attorneys for the defendants, while C. E. Pierce and M. O. Mount represented the plaintiff who was not present in person, supposedly incapable of leaving his bed. Ed. Carpenter presided in the judicial seat.

Jackson Called. H. H. Jackson was the first to be called upon, and he was administered the oath, after which C. E. Pierce began the examination. Inquiring minutely into all the details regarding his home, business, property, and habits of life, the last being of especial interest in the trial. His knowledge of the accusation was carefully sought out, and the information elicited that he had spoken of the matter, and made inquiries regarding the health of the plaintiff on several occasions, at one time questioning Chief Hogan.

Likened to Dog. It was made a point of great importance by the prosecuting attorney whether Jackson was of a violent and trouble-seeking disposition, or as Mr. Pierce expressed, "Whether he was as wild as a dog who has been killing sheep, of a ferocious disposition." Mr. Nolan objected to the implied reference to his client as a dog, and the prosecuting attorney admitted that it was rather hard on the dog canine.

Corporations Reviled. After the examinations of Jackson had been completed Hill was interrogated regarding his knowledge and connection with the affair. The lawyer for the complainant constantly emphasized the point that this was a case of the aged and suffering against a railroad corporation, and that justice could not be expected, but that for that reason it was all the more important that the cuprits should be convicted. He frequently insinuated with biting sarcasm that honor was not a part of the make-up of the man on the witness stand. Mr. Nolan responded to this with the suggestion that Mr. Pierce might have been so conversant with the habits and character of hoboes that he might not be able to appreciate and honest man and a gentleman.

Hill Hot. In fact the slurs on Mr. Hill's honor went so far that the spectators were expecting to see that gentleman rise from his seat and administer punishment to Mr. Pierce, regardless of the danger of seeming careless of the sanity of the court. Some of Mr. Mount's remarks also endangered him.

Defendants Discharged. After over an hour of careful examination the attorneys for the prosecution expressed themselves as satisfied, and Mr. Nolan moved that the defendants be discharged on the ground of insufficient evidence to incriminate. His Honor, Circuit Court Commissioner Carpenter, conceded this objection, and declared the defendants dismissed.

Declared Initiated. Announcement was then made that Mr. Dennis Hayes had a few words to say before the audience and the defendants departed. Mr. Hayes rose to a place and began very portentously. "Gentlemen, it is with great pleasure I introduce to you Mr. Jackson and Mr. Hill, who have been duly initiated into the Jackson Club." At this moment some one came up and placed a couple of the padded clubs which were used by the Elks' police in the hands of the recently acquitted defendants, who proceeded to belabor the opposing attorneys over the head and shoulders.

Ended Merrily. When the commotion had subsided hand shaking was indulged in. Mr. Pierce, who a moment before had been bitterly reviling the victims of the practical joke, was among the foremost in welcoming the new members. A box of cigars was then brought in which had been purchased with the witness fees which had been paid by Hill and Jackson yesterday, and the gathering dispersed among shouts of laughter.

We sat at the table together. She cast a shy glance over at me. She certainly looked like an angel. Oh, Charley! Please order me Rocky Mountain Tea. Smith's Pharmacy.

NOVEL TRIP IN WAGONS MADE

Beloit People Completing a Tour of Two Hundred and Fifty Miles Overland.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Morgan, and son Hiram, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kellogg, spent last night in this city. The party are making a two hundred and fifty mile across country driving trip, and are by this time at the end of their journey, having been out about ten days. The three first named are from the Morgan farm near Beloit, and Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg are of Chicago.

Drove Across Country. Five magnificent horses were used in making the trip, one of them a saddle horse which was ridden by Hiram Morgan, and the other two teams drew a trap and a buggy. The journey started from the farm at Beloit the first of last week, and went as far as Madison, stopping at many places along the way, and making the trip as leisurely as desired, and visiting many towns along the way.

Visited Farming Lands. Mr. Morgan is an enthusiastic millionaire farmer, and he noted with special interest the condition of the farming land along the way. The party arrived in this city late Thursday afternoon and left this morning spending the evening at the opera house.

FOOTBALL GAMES PLAYED TODAY

Wisconsin Meets Beloit in Milwaukee and Chicago Northwest-ern in Chicago.

Probably the most important game on the western gridiron today is that played at Marshall Field, Chicago, between the Midway school and Northwestern university. Both teams have been rivals of long standing, and a defeat for one or the other at this early date in the season, always is followed by depressing effect on future contests. Both coaches have prepared their aggregations for hard battles, and probably both are a trifle over confident.

Wisconsin-Beloit. Wisconsin's contest with Beloit at Milwaukee is of importance in that it will give a line on the comparative strength of Minnesota and the Badgers, while the Illinois-Purdue game will give the same comparison of Chicago and Illinois, who meet next Saturday. It is generally believed that Michigan will have an easy proposition in Notre Dame. The latter school is reported for below its usual standard while the Wolverines are out with a fast heavy eleven.

Foot Ball Games Today. Chicago-Northwestern at Marshall field. Michigan-Notre Dame at Toledo. Wisconsin-Beloit at Milwaukee. Minnesota-Nebraska at Minneapolis.

Illinois-Purdue at Champaign. Indiana-DePauw at Bloomington. Harvard-West Point at West Point.

Yale-Pennsylvania State at New Haven. Princeton-Washington and Jefferson at Princeton.

Pennsylvania-Brown at Philadelphia. Cornell-Indiana at Ithaca. Columbia-Hamilton at New York. Lehigh-Annapolis at Annapolis. Dartmouth-Williams at Newton, Mass.

EXCITEMENT AT MAGNOLIA

Blaze of Last Week Is out Done by the Late Trouble (Special To The Gazette).

Great excitement prevails in our little burg over the depredations committed at a burning match last week. Most of our young town's men are implicated in the affair and a labor disturbance greater than the one existing in the coal region is threatened. Officer Cochrane from Janesville is expected hourly and should be arrive a general panic is looked for.

The defeated army was under the command of a captain. A noble attack was made but they met with utter route and in the race to get away barb wire and board fences were run through as though they weren't there. It is reported that the captain ran over a wood pile twenty feet high and he was so excited that he never knew but that he was on level ground. Mr. G. H. Howard who has a number of the army men employed digging potatoes expected them to leave at any moment for an unknown corn shock and Mr. Acheson told me the conductor of the Charles Thompson merry-go-round who is in his employ keeps an eye peeled down the road. Ralph Harvey has a temporary engineer employed and R. E. Acheson's potato digging gang have a liar all picked out over in the Chicago woods. On the whole great consternation prevails. Fathers are a trifle nervous less their pocket books should be touched and mothers are fretting less their sons should be lodged in jail little brothers and sisters stand around with tears in their eyes listening to the discussions of groups of their older brothers as to whether they had better settle or flee to some unknown part of the country. It is hoped that the captain will bring forth some plan of procedure which will equal if not exceed President Roosevelt's in the coal strike and thus prevent one of the most threatening labor disturbances that ever befell Magnolia.

MORGAN MODEL FARM A SUCCESS

THE BELOIT CAPITALIST FARMER TELLS OF HIS PLANS.

HAS INVESTED FOR PROFIT

Thinks His Plan Is a Good One, and That His Son Will Continue It.

Diverse opinions are held by different persons regarding the Morgan farm near Beloit. Some look upon it merely as a rich man's fad, uselessly expensive, and profitless save as it gives him an opportunity to rid himself of his surplus funds, or to entertain his friends. Others believe that F. W. Morgan, the proprietor, knows what he is doing, and will make a mint of money from his investment before many years are over.

Was Here Thursday. Mr. Morgan himself is of the latter opinion. With his wife and son, and Mr. Kellogg and wife of Chicago, he stopped in the city Thursday night, and he consented to give his view of the matter. In ten years, according to his statement, he will be making ten per cent on his investment, and the ratio will increase as the years go on. In three years the farm should begin to bring in a revenue over and above all expenses.

Gave His Purpose. When he was asked whether he had bought the farm as a plaything or as a cold business proposition he replied: "Perhaps it is a kind of play, but I have become so used to trying to make money that I have to do so even when I am playing. You must understand that I am not trying to make money from the farm immediately, but I made my plans for a twenty-year purchase."

Fertile Land Valuable. "In this country there are eighty millions of people who must be fed, and that number is increasing constantly. There will be a corresponding demand for fertile land, and twenty years from now such property will be very valuable. If I wished to I could have let my land be occupied with any crop, but instead of that I am planning to make the greatest possible profit in the long run."

Relies On Sons. "Perhaps I will not be able to see the end of the work myself. The question of its success will then depend on whether my sons are able to carry on the work. This fall my boy goes to the agricultural college where he will be thoroughly educated to become a farmer of the highest type. There is constantly growing up a class of young men to be found all over the country, who are training themselves in this way. They are what you might call 'gentlemen farmers,' not dudes, but men of sound sense and practical ideas who make their brains do their work for them."

Expenditure Bring Returns. "Now, people say that I have made useless expenditures on my farm buildings. I have never paid a cent, to advertise my farm, but it has attracted wide attention simply because the buildings are what they are. In addition to that my stock are better cared for than they would have been in cheaper buildings. My hogs are housed in a building that cost thousands of dollars, but they bring in a correspondingly high market price."

Planning Future. By taking increased pains in this way I obtain animals that will bring from two hundred to six hundred dollars a head. Other farmers would keep them in any kind of quarters, and the animals would suffer by it. Of course I do not expect to make a profit on my investment this year, which is practically the first of active operation, but these expenditures will show in later years.

Will Improve Land. "Is your primary object to make a stock farm or to develop the land?" "Both. There are seven hundred acres of land under the plow, and I am doing what I can to make them increase in value. It is to the advantage of the stock that the land should be as fertile as possible, aside from the value of fertile land."

"Do you attend to the supervision of the farm personally, or do you employ experts to do it for you?"

"I attend to it myself. Some very capable men are employed, but I am thoroughly acquainted with every detail in the entire work. I have gone into this as a strictly business proposition, so far as the financial side of it is concerned, and I wish to know exactly what is being done in every place on the farm."

Ten Per cent. In Ten Years

Mr. Morgan went on to explain how he has taken a personal interest in working out every plan for the work of the farm. The venture has now reached the point where he can see how it will result, and he believes that inside of three years the farm will have begun to yield an income. In ten years the profit will have increased to ten per cent, and after that time the investment will begin to reach an even more profitable point.

Magnificent Farm House

As the farm now stands it is unequalled in this part of the country. In area it would easily absorb many ordinary sized farming properties with almost no appreciable increase in size. The "farm house" is a veritable mansion, massively built of stone, and imposing in size and architecture, set back about a quarter of a mile from the road.

For a temporary barn, a structure was put up at the time that the farm was started, that eclipsed almost any barn in the country, and since that time the regular barn has been erected which is a marvel when compared with others. Everything on the farm is on the same scale. A nine hole golf links has been laid out for use of the owner and the guests at the farm. In the short time in which Mr. Morgan has been living there he has gained a wide spread name for his hospitality, and the cordial welcome which he extends to his visitors.

SERVE SUPPER AT GOLF CLUB HOUSE

Several Interesting Matches Will be Played Next Tuesday, Followed by Supper.

Members of the St. Louis Golf club are making plans for a good program of sport for next Tuesday afternoon. It is expected that the finals in the ladies' match for the Valentine trophy will be played at that time and in addition there will be a mixed foursome and approaching and putting contests.

Following the events of the afternoon one of the club suppers which have been so popular in the past will be served. Mrs. C. C. MacLean and Mrs. Orion Sutherland will have charge of the supper and as this will doubtless be one of the closing social events of the summer, members of the club are anticipating a very pleasant time.

Miss Nowlan Wins. Miss Eloise Nowlan and Miss Helen Fifield played their semi-final match yesterday afternoon, the result being a victory for Miss Nowlan, who won from Miss Fifield, one up. Miss Nowlan's handicap was 15 and Miss Fifield's was 12. The match between Mrs. F. S. Taggart and Miss Catherine Fifield will be played before Tuesday afternoon when the finals will be played.

Mawhinney-Clark. Thursday evening Miss Mary Mawhinney and James Frank Clark, both of Johnston, were happily married at the home of the bride's father, George Mawhinney. The ceremony, which occurred at 8 o'clock, was witnessed by a company of about fifty relatives and intimate friends, guests being present from this city, Lodi, Whitewater, Elkhorn, Milton Junction and Edgerton.

The wedding was a very pretty one, the home being handsomely decorated. An arch of evergreen and cut flowers with a bank of potted plants beautified the corner in which the bride's party took its place when it entered the parlor to the strains of the wedding march, played by the bride's sister, Miss Agnes Mawhinney. The bride, Miss Mary Mawhinney, the bride, sister of the groom, and the groom was attended by the bride's brother, George Mawhinney.

After the ceremony and congratulations an elegant wedding supper was served. Both young people are well and favorably known throughout the county. The bride is the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mawhinney and is an accomplished young woman who enjoys the esteem of many friends. The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark and is a young man of industry and sterling worth. Both he and his bride are popular in church circles, the groom being president of the local Christian Union. Mr. and Mrs. Clark were the recipients of many costly gifts. They will make their home on the Pickett farm in Johnston.

siasm which has marked the previous history of the club and has made its record such a successful one.

Last evening's meeting was held at the Hotel Myers and after enjoying the usual excellent supper, members of the club devoted the balance of the evening to the transaction of business and to the splendid program which had been prepared under the direction of A. E. Matheson, who was the leader of the evening.

Place of Future Meetings
After a few words of welcome from Mr. Matheson, Judge Charles L. Field presented the report of the committee of arrangements. His report included the fact that the price
which the Hotel Myers would charge for the coming season had been reduced to seventy-five cents a plate and that the Y. M. C. A. had offered the use of their auditorium in connection with supper for fifty cents a plate. The officers of the association had also voted that the rule prohibiting smoking in the hall would be suspended during these meetings.

The club voted to accept the proposition of the Y. M. C. A., being influenced both by the difference in price and by the fact that supper could be served at an earlier hour than is possible at the hotel. Appreciation of the kindly courtesies and excellent service, for which the club members have been indebted to Landlords Johnson & Stevens for the past six years, were heartily expressed and a vote of thanks was tendered the gentlemen.
The meetings at the Hotel Myers have been very pleasant and many of the members were reluctant to make a change.

On Park Improvement
The report of the committee on park improvement was presented by the chairman, Rev. Richard M. Vaughn, who reviewed the work done during the past year, together with the money collected and expended. In regard to the proposition to convert Goose Island into a park he stated that he had asked for it was $2,000 and that it would require $10,000 to put it in shape. The committee considered this too large a sum for the plan to be practical at present. The committee was re-appointed to serve in conjunction with the city committee on parks.

Program Begun
After W. F. McCaughey had been named as the leader for the November meeting, when the subject will be Life Insurance, the program of the evening was taken up. The general topic under discussion was National and State Politics and it was introduced with a few interesting remarks, by Mr. Matheson, who referred to the subject as especially appropriate at the present time. He then called on the six speakers to whom the sub-topics had been assigned. The addresses were all able ones and were listened to with interest.

John J. Cunningham spoke on The State Legislator, who the speaker considered to be a man of good business intellect with a thorough knowledge of all political matters. Mr.
Cunningham believed that a legislator should consider the interests of the state before the wishes of his constituency.

Statesmen Needed
The topic of The National Legislator was treated by the Rev. A. H.
Barrington, who was frequently and liberally applauded. He believed that legislators should be men of broad mind and educated intellect and advocated the establishment of a chair of politics in all of the great universities and colleges. The best men are needed to solve the great national problems. Eloquent tribute was paid Washington, Lincoln, Mc-Kinley, Roosevelt and Senator Spooner and the speaker concluded his address with the expression of the hope that Wisconsin would continue to retain the services of Senator Spooner.

One Man Power
Under the subject, The Independence of the Executive and Legislative Departments, David Atwood gave a concise history of the growth of these branches of the government speaking of the powers vested in each. He believed that too much individual power is given the heads of each department. The veto power given the governor is too liberal as a legislature must be almost unanimous in its sentiment to secure a law against the governor's personal wishes. One man should not be permitted to dominate a legislature or a party.

Trusts or Corporations
A most comprehensive discussion on the subject of Trusts was given by Supt. A. J. Hutton who divided monopolies into four classes, personal, legal, natural and capitalistic. He did not believe any trusts exist today. Those commonly called trusts are corporations. As a solution of the resultant evils both private ownership and public control and public ownership with public control have been tried with a measure of success. Monopolies have secured economy in production and lower prices to consumers as well as a higher ratio of profits. Many corporations have gone beyond their original sphere. The control of the pipe lines by the oil company and the coal mines by the railroads were cited as instances.

Duty of Voters
Thomas O. Howe spoke on "The Obligations of the Party Voter," introducing his subject by saying that the independent voter is an important factor in politics today and holds the balance of power. He has a mission as important as the strict partisan. Nevertheless if a man expects favors of a party he must be loyal to that party as nothing will condemn him more quickly than political heresy.

Better Citizens Needed
M. P. Richardson spoke on The General Question, reviewing the entire topic in able manner. He appealed for a higher standard of citizenship, saying that if people wished to improve their officials they must improve themselves. Officials are as good as the people they serve and the need of the country is not because of the lack of statesmen but because of the lack in the demand for them.

General Discussion
A general discussion in which Judge
C. L. Field, Supt. Hutton, and L.
B. Carle took part, brought the interesting meeting to a close.

Michael Dawson, and in view of the loss we have sustained and of the still greater loss sustained by those dearer and dearer to him, be it moval from our midst, we mourn for one who was, in every way, worthy of our respect and regard. And that the heartfelt sympathy of this order

PIERPONT MORGAN A NOTED MAN

His Daily Actions Closely Watched by the Members of the Press.

(Special To The Gazette).

By A. P. Nearing.
New York.—Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan
is today the observed of all the observed in Wall street. Crowds of the merely curious gather in Broad street to watch the big financier at his desk, receiving visitors, talking to his partners or sitting heavily in his chair glaring over the heads of the people out into space past the end of an unlighted cigar of prodigious dimensions.

Reporters in Evidence
Hordes of newspaper reporters from Park Row crowd his office, or at least they did until Mr. Morgan protested so emphatically that they went over and took possession of the Sub-Treasury steps directly facing the Wall street entrance of J. P. Morgan & Co. There they (the reporters) stand the live-long day, and if Mr.
Morgan so much as walks across the street there is copy and to spare for the afternoon editions of the "yellow extras."

The Fruit Vender
One day this week Mr. Morgan amazed the reporters by descending alone the front steps of his banking house and turning east in Wall street.
He walked a block and a half to the customs house, went in came out and walked back again. His movements were precisely chronicled by the reporters and his mission was the subject of wild speculations, ranging from an international combine of something or other to the settlement of the coal strike. On his way back to his banking house Mr. Morgan passed an Italian fruit vender who bowed politely. Mr. Morgan bowed to the fruit vender. Many a millionaire would have paid handsomely for such a recognition as this from the first financier of the day. It was learned afterward that the fruit vender did not know to whom he bowed. The man looked to be of importance and the vender of fruits saluted partly out of respect and partly out of native courtesy. So was his salute returned.

Is Displeased
Mr. Morgan pretends to be greatly displeased at the espionage the press holds over his movements. He has caused a compact to be made with the reporters whereby one newspaper man only shall enter his banking house, get all the information there is and convey it to his fellows. The newspaper men have elected a delegate to perform this important office, but is noticeable that in the week the scheme has been in effect there has been a marked falling off in the volume of personal news from J. P.
Morgan & Co's.

PLEASANT PARTY BY EASTERN STAR

Dance Given at Central Hall Last Evening Was an Enjoyable Affair.

Central hall was the scene of another handsome dancing party last evening when the members and friends of Janesville chapter, No. 69, Order of Eastern Star assembled for an evening of pleasure. The party was not largely attended, about about sixty couples being present, but the company was an especially congenial one and everyone enjoyed a delightful evening.

Many handsome gowns were worn by the ladies and the dancers made a very attractive picture. Smith's orchestra was at its best and furnished some of its choicest music. The floor was in charge of the following committee: T. O. Howe, M. C. Fish, Marry George, S. Hutchinson and G.
R. Drummond.

Illinois' Coal Production.
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 18.—The forthcoming report of the Illinois state bureau of labor statistics will show that this last year Illinois has produced 30,000,000 tons of coal, an increase of 5,000,000 tons over the preceding year.

Raisin Packers Will Strike.
Fresno, Cal., Oct. 18.—The backbone of the raisin-packers' strike is broken.
An agreement with the employees has been signed by two packing-houses, and it is a victory for the strikers, who get everything they asked for.

ONE WOMAN

With two faces; one face bright with health, the other face pinched and drawn by illness. Many a woman can take the portrait of herself made but a few years ago, and holding it by her face in this mirror realize a similar change.

Behind this change in form and feature is always disease, and generally disease which affects the womanly organism. The backache and bearing-down pains put a heavy strain on the nervous system. There is loss of sleep, lack of appetite, and, as a natural result, loss of strength and flesh.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription
cures diseases of the womanly organs.
It establishes regularity, dries encrusted drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I cannot tell what I suffered for thirteen years with womb trouble and dragging-down pains through my hips and back," writes Mrs.
John Dickson, of Grenfell, Assiniboia Dist., N.W.
Ter. "I can't describe the misery it was to be on my feet long at a time. I could not rest or sleep. Often I wished to die. Then I saw Dr.
Pierce's medicine advertised and thought I would try them. Had not taken one bottle till I was feeling well. After I had taken five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I was like a new woman. Could eat and sleep and do all my own work. I would entreat of any lady suffering from female weakness to give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a fair trial, for I know the benefit she will receive."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would use more intelligence in the matter of medicines, observing results, they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElee's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

You may secure the same relief as Miss Snyder, if you take Wine of Cardui as she took it. Thedford's Black-Draught is the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui and it is a liver and bowel regulator which assists greatly in effecting a cure. If you take these medicines according to directions, the relief and cure is simple. Some cases are cured quickly and others take longer because the disease has run longer. Remember how Miss Snyder took Wine of Cardui and has health. The same medicines are offered you to-day.

mer's boy goes wrong, and the boy is not always to blame. There is no reason, in this age of telephones, electric roads, rural mail service, and improved farm equipment, why every country home should not be a boy's paradise.

Boyhood possesses great similarity, and there is an age that comes to the life of every boy, when he needs more than simply board and lodging. He will find associates outside the home and they will influence his life to greater or less extent, but in the home he needs the closest companionship on the part of the mother, and a comradeship on the part of the father, that inspires both love and confidence.

There are too many homes, not only in the country, but in the towns and cities, where the boy is treated as a stranger, and where the neighbors know more about both his good and bad qualities, than do the parents who are supposed to be responsible for him.

The good Lord has trusted some people with the care of children, who are totally unfit for the task, and the child suffers in consequence.

The average boy has ambition, and when he strikes the age of restlessness, he seeks in some way to satisfy it. If he finds no encouragement in the home, but is simply told that his schemes are visionary, and advised that he will know more when he gets older, he very naturally turns away from the home to seek a more congenial atmosphere.

A little advice, or a few suggestions, would have changed the channel of thought, and would have started him out on practical lines, but these were withheld, and in the absence of judgment, he makes mistakes that frequently prove disastrous, and sometimes handicap him before he reaches the threshold of active life.

The home is largely responsible for the failure of the boy. He is too often prompted to go into life as a respectable tramp, with no well defined purpose, and if he commences to drift when he first strikes the current, the chances are that he will continue to drift. What he needs is an upstream course laid out for him, with a steady hand to help him until he is fairly launched.

The young man who falls in accomplishment, not only disappoints himself and his friends, but he wrecks a destiny for which he was created. While he was not consulted regarding his mission, when his life was launched, and while he may not be entirely responsible for the lack of preparation for the journey, yet something is expected of him.

There will be fewer failures, and more monuments dedicated to success when the home appreciates more keenly the responsibility that rests upon it in its relation to the boy who went wrong, but intended to go right.

AMERICAN RAILROADS

With 200,000 miles of rail already built in the United States, new rail ways are in the process of construction to open up the southwest and the far northwest. With freight and passenger rates almost forty per cent. lower than in Europe, there is a tendency to make them lower still. With the fastest trains in the world there is every prospect of adding to their speed. Freight rates, which often seem high to farmers whose produce the roads carry, are absurdly low in the eyes of Europeans, for it is said that wheat can be transferred from Kansas City to Liverpool more cheaply than for three hundred miles in England.

The lowering of freight rates have come from many causes; larger locomotives, more capacious cars, the straightening of tracks, the practice of making train loads to the full capacity of the locomotive. Hardly a month passes that some locomotive plant does not turn out an engine larger and heavier than any before built. To allow these locomotives to make time with loaded trains from a quarter to a half mile in length it has been necessary on many roads to practically rebuild the whole track, employing heavier rails and stronger bridges and the New York Central has been at heavy expense to bring its roadbed up to the highest efficiency, and the B. & O. is carrying out a vast plan of alteration. The whole movement makes for ultimate economy.

Ten years ago ordinary freight cars weighed ten tons and carried ten tons; now they weigh about fifteen tons and carry thirty. These cars, loaded to their fullest capacity, are formed into trains that require the greatest horse-power of big Mogul and Consolidation engines to hurry them over even well-equipped and modern roadbeds. In France an engine that is supposed to draw twelve cars must be helped by another engine if two extra cars are added to the train. On American roads it is customary to add two or four or even a dozen extra cars and make one engine pull them all; by such methods freight charges are kept down.—Financial Review.

The atmosphere is oppressive with harmony. Fair-minded democrats overworked game wardens, the school book scandal are all things of the past. Let us have peace.

The coal strike editor can now take a day off.

PRESS COMMENT.

Marquette Eagle: Rainy days save many a young man $2, the price of the rig in which he had promised to take his best girl out riding.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: Only gold and silver have been found in Dunn great disappointment. But perhaps coal may be struck after more digging.

Racine Journal: Some man arises to complain that the law declares man's desertion of a woman is crime, but when a woman deserts a man it is no crime. The law is all right.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The Oshkosh Northwestern advises people to keep cool and wait for the coal emergency to adjust itself. Oh, give us something harder. Keeping cool is all most of us can do.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: With a republican legislator elected in Wisconsin this fall, Senator Spooner is assured of being returned to the United States senate where his conspicuous service has won the admiration of the people the country over.

La Crosse Republican and Leader: The denial of Governor La Follette of the frequently iterated and reiterated charges connected with the so-called "book company scandal" is as complete as to cover the ground thoroughly. It leaves not a splinter for the opposition to stand on.

Marquette Star: As soon as a means for preparing peat for convenient handling is discovered the state of Wisconsin will put the coal kings out of the ring; for with Badgerdom's exhaustless peat and wood supplies a variety and a volume of fuel will be available equal to the coal supply of Pennsylvania.

Milwaukee Journal: Now, after the governor's denial, something is left to explain. Did Senator Stout go into that business without considering where he would come out? Did he get the bottom facts before he committed himself to such a damaging statement against his friend and chief official of Wisconsin. If not he owes an apology and recantation. Are public men to be held responsible for their words?

Superior Telegram: It is difficult to suggest and reasonably reason why men should possess the right of suffrage to the exclusion of women. But this was the case in the beginning, and it will only be changed when women as a class demand it. When the demand is made it will be granted. The observation of many is to the effect that such men favor female suffrage whose wives are in favor of the principle.

Eau Claire Telegram: Parties who have examined the peat bogs in Chippewa and Sawyer counties, speak very highly of them and say that they will make turf equal to the best Irish. This will make a valuable addition to the fuel resources of Wisconsin. In Ireland the bogs have furnished the exclusive fuel of the people for a period so far back that it is lost in the twilight of fable. A good peat bog is more valuable than a gold mine.

Lodi Valley News: Personal considerations should never be allowed to influence a man's vote one way or another. Because a man is my personal friend is no reason why I should vote for him, nor is it incumbent on me to vote against my enemy because he is such. The thing to consider in deciding how to vote is the effect your vote will have on the welfare of the country, as near as you can judge of it. That consideration, and that only, should be allowed to influence your vote in any degree, at any time, or whatever the issue.

Free Press: Hundreds of thousands of cords of good wood, are being burned every year in Wisconsin by settlers in clearing up their farms. This wood is burned in the log, to get it out of the way, just as the same thing was done in Milwaukee county years ago. Although the price of cord wood in Milwaukee is, and has been high, it does not pay these northern home makers to get it out and deliver it to the railroads for shipment. All they can get for a cord of good wood, at a station, is $1, which does not pay for cutting and hauling. So the wood is burned on the ground.

La Crosse Republican and Leader: What is at stake in this campaign is precisely what was at stake in 1896. Then we voted for a chance to prosper, and we got it. In 1900 we voted to keep on prospering, and we did. Now, however, many of us seem to have forgotten that prosperity must be safeguarded to be kept.

The personal prosperity of nearly every one of us 80,000,000 American citizens is what is now at stake. And if we now neglect to take the simple and easy means at hand to preserve that prosperity we shall have none but ourselves to blame for the results of our folly.

PLAY FRANKS' WITH MINISTER

Kansas Students Blind Rev. E. B. Smith to a Rail Fence.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 18.—High school students in Argentine, a suburb of Kansas City, have fought a class battle every day for a week. The students captured the Rev. E. B. Smith, tied him to a rail fence, and kept him prisoner for two hours because he sympathized with the sophomore class in its contests with the other classes. The freshmen turned the hose on the sophomores and bound one of them in the manhole of a sewer. The battles resulted from attempts by the sophomores to paint their class numerals on the roof of the smelter.

LEFT LARGE SUM TO EVANSVILLE

CHARACTERISTIC WILL OF THE LATE ALMERON EAGER.

BEQUESTS PROVE A SURPRISE

Ten Thousand Dollars Left for a Public Library—Many Other Generous Legacies.

In the death of ex-Assembly Almeron Eager, of Evansville, the county has lost one of its most respected and most substantial citizens. Mr. Eager was a modest, unassuming man, and so free from ostentation, that his most intimate friends were surprised at the amount of property he had accumulated. He was a common every day man, noted for honesty and rigid integrity, peculiar in many ways, but doing good without display, prompted by a heart that beat in sympathy with suffering.

The funeral services held yesterday afternoon were remarkable, for the schools were closed and all business suspended to pay respect to the memory of the man whose life and interests were so closely interwoven in the city's development. Many Janesville people were present, including a delegation of twenty-five Masons who assisted in the burial service, in charge of Elmer E. Combs, master of the Evansville lodge.

The employees of the Baker Manufacturing company, in which Mr. Eager was largely interested, attended in a body, and the Methodist church of which Mr. Eager was a member, was crowded to overflowing.

The will, which was read to the relatives in the evening, was characteristic of the man. It was prepared by Mr. Eager himself in September, and after he was apprised of the fact that the hand of death was upon him.

A Large Estate
His estate, amounting to about $250,000, consisted of all kinds of property, and his sick room was converted into an office, and debtors by the score called on him for final settlement. His mind was clear and active, and the same courteous consideration that had won a place for him in the hearts of the people, endeared him more closely as he arranged the last details of business before leaving them for the long journey.

When all of his affairs were settled he made his will, and its provisions were so remarkable, that the people of Evansville will long have occasion to perpetuate his memory.

The Legacies
About thirty legacies of $1,000 each, to be paid in five years, were left to relatives, and many of them were in recognition of service, or some little debt of kindness, rendered many years ago and long since forgotten by the donor. One bequest read: "I bequeath to my cousin, Mrs. Eager, $2,000 and $30 a month during her life, because she is lame and needy." Another read: "I bequeath to my daughter, Mrs. Eager, $1,000 because she helped me when I was a young man," and so along down through the will, the character of the man stood out strong and vigorous.

Lawrence University
One thousand dollars was left to Lawrence University at Appleton, $2,000 to the Methodist church at Evansville, the interest to apply on the pastor's salary.

Ten thousand dollars was bequeathed to the city of Evansville for a free public library building to be known as the "Eager library." A life sized statue of the donor to be placed at the entrance.

One thousand dollars was appropriated to park improvements, the money to be spent for evergreens.

The will also provides for a monument that will cost from $7,000 to $10,000; similar to the Bower monument at Broadhead. Allen C. Baker, Geo. L. Pullen and Robert D. Hartley were appointed executors and trustees and the income of the estate for fifteen years is to go to his widow and daughter, and at the expiration of that time to be equally divided.

The people of Evansville will long cherish the memory of Almeron Eager and many of them realize that they never knew him until he was taken from their midst.

HORSE STEPS INTO A BROKEN BRIDGE

Mrs. Ide and Mrs. Morse Are Thrown from Carriage, Which Is Badly Wrecked.

Mrs. Millard Ide and Mrs. Emma Morse had a narrow escape from a serious accident on Thursday and both ladies are suffering from severe bruises as an unpleasant reminder of their experiences. Mrs. Ide also has some cuts on her head.

The two ladies were driving to Johnstown to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Morse. When driving over a bridge over a gully near the farm of John A. Riss, at Rock Prairie, the horse suddenly stepped into a hole in the bridge and was thrown backward onto the carriage, smashing the wheels and dashboards. This threw both of the ladies out of the carriage, Mrs. Ide being thrown on her head in the mud at the side of the carriage. Mrs. Morse pitched forward over the dashboard and as the horse began to kick at the same time it is a miracle that she escaped alive.

Mr. A. Riss came to the assistance of the ladies and succeeded in quieting the frightened horse. A carriage was secured from Mr. Clark, who lives half a mile nearer Janesville. The front of the rubber-tired carriage belonging to Mr. Ide was completely demolished and the damages are quite extensive. Fortunately the horse was uninjured as the ladies were driving very slowly when the accident occurred. Had the horse been running his leg would certainly have been broken. Yesterday the remains of the carriage were hauled to this city, but in the meantime some one had appropriated the seat cushion belonging to it.

LECTURE GIVEN TO ART LEAGUE

PROF. WRIGHT, OF BELOIT, BEGINS HIS SERIES,

ON GREEK ART AND HISTORY

Pre-Historic Greece as Revealed by Homer, and Researches of
Dr. Schliemann.

Members of the Janesville Art League began their season's work in earnest yesterday afternoon when Prof. Theodore L. Wright gave his first lecture in the series on Greek History and Art, with which he will entertain and instruct the ladies of the Art League and their friends this winter.

The lecture was given in the lecture room of the Y. M. C. A. building and was the introductory one of the series, relating entirely to pre-historic Greece. Prof. Wright is a very interesting speaker and his subject yesterday was "Reading and Interpretation from Homer."

Art Reveals History
In introduction Mr. Wright said that naturally members of an Art League would wish to approach history from the art side and indeed it is almost impossible to approach Greek history from any other side because most of its history is revealed by the works of the poets and the artists. Especially is this true of the prehistoric times between 1500 and 900 B. C.

In Egypt one art room equals the others but every Greek room is a new revelation. The Egyptian art centers in the tomb and idealizes death. Assyrian art knows no death but places prominence on the kings. Phoenicia, like Yankee land, selected its art guided by commercial instincts so that Egyptian art, symbolizing death, is the realistic art; Assyrian art, emphasizing royalty, is the decorative art and Phoenician art is the selling art.

Poet's Description
Prof. Wright then read selections from Homer's Odyssey and Illiad which are exceptionally valuable to the student of history because of the true glimpses which they give of the existing conditions in that prehistoric time. It is largely to Homer's descriptions and to the archaeological researches of Dr. Henry Schliemann that anything of ancient Greece is known today. An interesting description was given how young Henry Schliemann, an errand boy in a grocery in an obscure German town, became interested in the works of Homer through hearing a drunken sailor reciting some of the lines in Greek and how he vowed that when he became a man he would find Troy. After he became wealthy by a fortunate investment in cotton, he started to carry out his vow.

Wall of Cyclops
His most noted researches are at Mycenae and at Tiryns, the latter being the earliest of the walled cities of Greece. The wall is known as the wall of Cyclops, because its immense size caused the belief that it was erected by giants. It is sixty feet thick and many of the stones are ten feet long, being proof of the fact that the ancient Greeks were versed in the mechanics and knew how to raise great weights. In this wall there are deep passageways. In his diggings at Tiryns, Dr. Schliemann unearthed the plan of the palace of one of the ancient kings; which taken with Homer's description gives an excellent idea of the immensity and metallic splendor of the building.

Discoveries at Mycenae
The cities of Ancient Greece were all built high on the spurs of hills both for the purposes of defence and of health. Mycenae is the highest, being 1900 feet above the sea. Its walls mark a step in architectural progress, the stones being cut more regularly than in the walls of Tiryns. There are three stages in Greek stone work, the rough hewn, the rectangular and the polygonal. At Mycenae is found the first piece of known sculpture, the lions carved in the stone over the gates of the city. The interior of the city shows evidences of stucco work and a high grade of decorative art. The spiral pattern was popular and the Greeks knew the art of inlaid glass.

Inside the gates Dr. Schliemann found some graves in which were skeletons, heavy with jewels and smothered with gold. The ornaments and set of spear heads, inlaid in gold make a priceless collection of relics which give some idea of the wealth of the times.

Greatness of Greek Art
Prof. Wright then read Homer's description of the shield of Achilles which was carved in circles, the inner circle representing the life of the city in peace and in war, the next the life of the country, the next the life of the mountain herdsman and the outer rim representing the ocean. This shield of Achilles is the meditation of the world and stands for all there is in life. This is the characteristic of Greek art. It stands for everyman's life and that is the reason its greatness is enduring. The history of Greece is the history of the rise of the common man, the true democrat and true republican.

Relics and Photographs
Prof. Wright, who has recently returned from Greece, brought with him a fine collection of relics and photographs, some of which he had with him yesterday. These added much to the interest of the lecture.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR COAL MINERS

WILL BE HELD NEXT WEDNES-DAY EVENING

WANT TO RAISE AT LEAST $500

This Sum Will Be Sent to the Needy
Miners' Families in Pennsylvania.

Extensive plans are being made for a rousing benefit dance to be held at Assembly hall next Wednesday evening. The entire proceeds to be given to the striking miners and their families in the anthracite regions.

A strong effort will be made to raise at least $500 and a general canvass of the city will be made.

The miners' benefit dance should be patronized by all. The cause is a most worthy one and every cent of the gross proceeds goes to help the families of the miners and at a time when help is most needed.

The Trades Council gives the use of Assembly hall with light, heat, janitor and other services. The music is furnished by Baldwin & Reichel free. The printing and advertising is given free. The conditions in the coal fields are such that aid must be given or the suffering will be great. Every man in the city should buy a ticket for 50 cents and feel that he has done a good deed. Turn out and help a needy cause.

GAVE AUTUMNAL LUNCHEON

Mrs. William Gallup Entertains in Honor of Out-of-Town Guests.
Mrs. William Gallup entertained a small company of friends at a delightful autumnal luncheon given at her home, 1 Vernon avenue yesterday afternoon. The guests of honor were Mrs. Gallup's sister, Mrs. S. C. Gibbs, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. A. D. Gibbs, both of Menominee, Mich. The two ladies have been visiting relatives in this city for a few days and returned to their Michigan home today.

Mrs. Gallup's home was beautifully decorated with great branches of autumn leaves and trailing vines with brilliant foliage. After an afternoon of pleasant sociability a tempting repast was prettily served.

HALL, SAYLES & FIFIELD,

Reliable Jewelers.

Extensive plans are being made for a rousing benefit dance to be held at Assembly hall next Wednesday evening. The entire proceeds to be given to the striking miners and their families in the anthracite regions.

A strong effort will be made to raise at least $500 and a general canvass of the city will be made.

The miners' benefit dance should be patronized by all. The cause is a most worthy one and every cent of the gross proceeds goes to help the families of the miners and at a time when help is most needed.

The Trades Council gives the use of Assembly hall with light, heat, janitor and other services. The music is furnished by Baldwin & Reichel free. The printing and advertising is given free. The conditions in the coal fields are such that aid must be given or the suffering will be great. Every man in the city should buy a ticket for 50 cents and feel that he has done a good deed. Turn out and help a needy cause.

This morning a fifty-case leaf tobacco shipment was made from Janesville to Australia.

The leaf is Wisconsin grown and in the last few years has found a ready sale in the Australian market at a good figure.

This is the fourth shipment made this year by Mr. Heddles to this far away country, the tobacco being shipped via New York City as the freight rates are much cheaper than via San Francisco.

TRADE HANDICAP IS NO REMOVED

RAILWAY EARNINGS INCREASE

Lack of Cars to Move Product is Likely to Seriously Hamper Business Interests, Though Much New Rolling Stock is Being Secured.

New York, Oct. 18.—"Settlement of the coal strike removes the only serious handicap to industrial progress. Five months of restricted fuel production had begun to check the wheels at many manufacturing centers, while there was a perceptible diminution in consumptive demands, as the purchasing power of the wage-earners steadily decreased. Savings have been exhausted, and much money has gone out of the country because of this struggle, but the nation's remarkably strong position assures a speedy restoration of prosperous conditions." The foregoing is from the weekly trade review of R. G. Dun & Co. It continues:

Railway Earnings Larger.
"Transportation is now the worst feature, and threatens to continue disturbing. While the grain crops are being moved the supply of rolling stock and motive power will prove insufficient, although every effort is made at the shops. Liberal premiums being offered for early delivery. That the railways are well occupied is evidenced by earnings for the first week of October 3.5 per cent larger than last year and 10.9 per cent above 1900.
"Inadequate supplies of fuel caused further banking of furnaces, but the effect of a decreased output of domestic pig iron has been partly neutralized by larger arrivals from abroad. Practically no price can be named for immediate delivery of home iron, and there is no disposition to make concessions for distant contracts, owing to the abnormal coke situation. Fortunately there has been little interruption at finishing mills, and the output of rails, structural material and kindred lines is well maintained.
"Advance Contracts for Steel.
"Consumers not only find difficulty in securing steel from the mills but encounter a further delay on the railways, which are unable to handle freight promptly. Orders come forward freely for the heavier lines, numerous contracts being offered for steel rails for next year's delivery, and the plans for buildings and bridges keep a lot of business in sight in beams, channels and angles. Plates for shipyards are also sought freely, prices tending upward on tank steel. Higher freight rates have checked imports of finished steel.
"Hides Are Lower.
"Footwear shops are actively engaged, many producers having added to their long list of orders, and while practically all the New England manufacturers are assured full time up to the end of the year, they are also taking orders for deliveries in March. Prices are easily maintained.
"Leather is slightly weaker, owing to the sharp fall in hides, which has been accentuated by the poorer quality now coming on the market. Large imports have weakened dry hides. In cotton goods the feature was a purchase of about 250,000 pieces of print cloths. While quotations were not altered, the tone became decidedly firmer. In other divisions of the market buyers are only interested in meeting current demands, future requirements being held back by evidences of weakness in the raw material.
"Failures for the week number 206 in the United States, against 229 last year, and 24 in Canada, compared with 31."

MONEY QUARREL LEADS TO MURDER

ON HAND TO SETTLE SHORTAGE

Meeting Is Held to Straighten Company's Affairs, at Which the Slayer Answers Request for Check With Shots From His Revolver.

New York, Oct. 18.—William C. Turner, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., shot and killed William J. Mallard of 3 West One Hundred and First street and Albert Hamilton of Pittsburg and then committed suicide in the law offices of Borough President Cantor and former Assistant District Attorney John F. McIntyre, in the Wall street district.

The shooting was done in the presence of J. J. Adams, a partner of Mr. Cantor and Mr. McIntyre, Lawyer Leventritt, who represented Turner, and Maurice Goodman, who is associated with the firm of Cantor, McIntyre & Adams.

Turner was a cousin of Governor Odell, a brother-in-law of Dan Stuart, the famous Texas sport and "gun fighter," was formerly a Texan and was a dead shot.

Kills a Millionaire.
Mr. Hamilton was a millionaire glass manufacturer, who bought out the business of his slayer. He was prominent with his wife in the social circles of Pittsburg.

Mr. Mallard was a purchaser of Turner's business. He leaves a widow and two children, and was formerly a resident of Atlanta, Ga., where he was prominent in political and social circles.
Turner killed the two men and himself because they accused him of stealing money from the Climax Bottling and Manufacturing Company. It is believed that Turner intended to kill both President Cantor and John F. McIntyre, but they happened to be absent from the office.

Agrees to Settle.
Turner was president and treasurer of the Climax Bottling and Manufacturing Company until last April, when he was succeeded by Mr. Hamilton. Mallard was secretary of the concern. An examination of the books, according to Mallard and Hamilton, showed that Turner was $5,100 short in his accounts.

John F. McIntyre was engaged by Mallard and Hamilton to force Turner to make a settlement. The accused man made a proposition to settle on a basis of $2,700. This was agreed to, and an engagement was made to settle up.

Turner insisted that Mr. McIntyre should be present at the conclusion of the negotiations. He was very bitter against the former district attorney, who had threatened him frequently with criminal proceedings. Mr. McIntyre, however, evaded the engagement.

Asks For Check.
Turner was greatly excited and controlled himself with difficulty. Everything went along smoothly until the time came for Turner to produce the $2,700 check. He was slow to do this. The papers were scattered around the table awaiting signatures when Mr. Leventritt said:

"Well, Mr. Turner, you might as well deliver the check."
Turner glared at the lawyer and at the men on the opposite side of the table.

"You have the check with you, I suppose?" asked Mr. Leventritt.
"Oh, yes," replied Turner, "I've got it with me, all right."

Saying this, he got up, left his chair, walked to the side of the room, and turned his back on the men at the table. When he faced them again he had a revolver in his hand.

Quick and Sure Shot.
"I'll kill you, you ———," he said to Mallard.

The men at the table were paralyzed with fright. Before Mallard could get out of the way two bullets were in his body.

Hamilton had made no move to escape. He sat gazing at the body of Mallard on the floor. Turner fired one shot at him and killed him instantly. Then he placed the muzzle of the revolver to the side of his own head and blew out his brains.

The shooting did not occupy more than half a minute.

Mr. Adams, Mr. Goodman and Mr. Leventritt ran out of the office with white faces, meeting a throng of clerks and other tenants who had been attracted by the sound of the shots.

On Turner's body were found another revolver, fully loaded, and a certified check for $2,700.

MINERS GET READY FOR CONVENTION

LIKELY TO FOLLOW MITCHELL

General Opinion Prevails That Advice of Leader Will Be Indorsed and Men Will Accept Proposal to Return to the Collieries.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 18.—Local unions of the mine workers have elected delegates to the peace convention, which is to meet in the Nesbit Theater, this city, on Monday. Reports received are that the great majority of the delegates have been instructed to follow the advice of President Mitchell. Some of the locals discussed at length the possibilities of all the strikers not getting their old places, and many not getting work at all, and this will be the chief point of controversy at the convention. Already it has caused much trouble and it is expected to cause more before the convention assembles.

The operators have taken a decided stand against displacing the 17,000 nonunion workers, and will not have places for as many of the strikers as they previously employed. It is apparent that a number will be without places, and, while the union will care for them, they will not get work.

Mitchell is Reticent. President Mitchell defined his attitude in his address to President Roosevelt in which he says: "I will recommend at the convention that all men now on strike return to their positions and working places formerly occupied by them."

Mr. Mitchell would not discuss this feature. He said: "All I have to say on the matter is embodied in the statement."

It is understood that while he realizes that this is one of the weak points in the arbitration proposition, he believes that the companies will be able to employ all the men who want to work, and that in the course of two or three months conditions will adjust themselves.

The district officers would say little. One declared, when asked if the contention would not cause trouble: "Yes, and it will come in great big chunks." Another said: "The union will take care of all men who don't get work. They will not be deserted."

Pumpmen to Suffer. President John Fahy of District No. 9 said: "I pass the whole matter up to the convention."

President Duffy of District No. 7 would have nothing to say upon it. Other officers admitted that they expected there would be much talk in the convention about it, but that the convention would follow Mr. Mitchell's recommendation and vote to resume work.

Those who will suffer most are the engineers, firemen and pumpmen, whose places the operators had to fill in order to save their mines. They now have 3,500 working, and all of these will be retained, so that there will be places for only about 3,000 of the 7,000 strikers of these classes. The others cannot go into the mines, and there is apparently no work for them. The actual miners will not suffer; all of them will be assured places but the company hands and laborers will not be so assured.

Plenty of Cars. The operators explain the situation briefly. One said: "There are about 17,000 non-unionists in the collieries and they have stood with us during the strike, helped to keep our mines from being damaged, and aiding in sending out coal. We are not going to throw them over. They will remain where they are and we'll see that they are properly protected."

"As to the strikers, there will be no discrimination between union and nonunion men. We will take back all we need and give them the places for which we think they are best fitted. We cannot take all of them back, but the force will be increased as we need it."

The railroads were busy gathering cars for the mines and placing them at the sidings. There are enough "empties" in the region to carry more than 5,000,000 tons to market, the largest number of coal cars ever collected in the coal field.

Blacksmiths Go Back. Blacksmiths returned to work to sharpen tools and aid in repairing about the collieries. They had the permission of President Mitchell.

T. H. Watkins of Scranton, appointed on the commission of arbitration by President Roosevelt, has decided to accept.

Mrs. Ford and Her Daughter Give Pleasant Afternoon Luncheon

Yesterday afternoon for the second time during the week, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ford, 103 Madison street, was the scene of a pleasant social gathering.
